Meet Your Bartlett Arborist Representative

Cameron Holmes

Cameron began his career in arboriculture in 2013, developing a passion for trees while landscaping and managing a zipline course in his hometown of Fayetteville, North Carolina. While moving throughout North Carolina, Cameron advanced his career as a production Arborist, being promoted from Grounds Person to Crew Leader. He worked as Campus Arborist for Elon University and served as Adjunct Professor of Arboriculture at Alamance Community College. Cameron joined Bartlett Tree Experts in 2021 as a Plant Health Care Specialist. He is a North Carolina Urban Forestry Council Board Member and a Greensboro Beautiful Urban Forestry Board Member. Now, as an Arborist Representative, Cameron services the Greensboro area where he lives with his family.

As an ISA Board Certified Master Arborist, Cameron has extensive knowledge in proper pruning, plant health care, and technical tree removals. He holds a Pesticide Applicator License and Tree Risk Assessment Qualification. He is experienced in all aspects of arboriculture and is backed by the diagnostic support of the Bartlett Tree Research Laboratories.

In his free time, Cameron loves to hike and spend time with his wife and three young sons. He loves to talk with people about all things outdoors!
