Meet Your Bartlett Arborist Representative

Garret Lindsey

Garret developed a passion for the outdoors at an early age through hunting and fishing with family. His interest in trees and the environment led him to Stephen F. Austin State University where he earned a Bachelor of Science in environmental science with a minor in urban forestry. After graduating, Garret began his career with Bartlett Tree Experts in 2016 and gained valuable experience working in the field climbing, pruning, and treating trees for various insects and diseases. He held positions including Arborist Climber and Plant Health Care Specialist prior to becoming an Arborist Representative.

Garret is an ISA Certified Arborist, Tree Risk Assessment Qualified, and a member of the Houston Area Urban Forestry Council. Garret is passionate about Bartlett's scientific approach to tree care and provides sound recommendations to maintain clients' properties and bring them peace of mind. After all, trees make a house a home!

In his free time, Garret enjoys spending time outdoors with his family, including his wife, Pamela, son, and their two yellow labs.
