Meet Your Bartlett Arborist Representative

Julian Reese

Julian's work experience is varied and interesting. He spent a year working for a non-profit conservation organization in Arizona promoting responsible land stewardship. He then joined Bartlett Tree Experts and worked as an Arborist Technician. During that time, he completed his Bachelors of Science in Environmental Biology at the University of Connecticut. He was requested by the University to travel to Costa Rica and study the effects of tropical reforestation. While abroad, he led adventure tours, educating travelers about the complex tropical ecological systems as well as safe methods of tree climbing and rappelling. Julian made the return to the United States in time to assist in several major storm cleanup efforts including Hurricane Irene and Sandy. He currently enjoys sharing his passion for plants to improve the safety, health, and aesthetics of our landscapes.
