Meet Your Bartlett Arborist Representative

Matt Carpenter

Matt Carpenter started his career in arboriculture in 2010 while attending Brigham Young University in Provo, UT. He worked for two years on the BYU campus tree crew under the direction of the campus arborist. There he earned a B.S. in Landscape Management with a minor in Business Management in December 2012. Matt joined Bartlett Tree Experts in 2014 in the San Francisco Bay Area. There he held positions as Arborist Climber, Plant Healthcare Specialist and Arborist Representative. In 2017, Matt and his family relocated to Atlanta, GA where he worked as an Arborist Representative until 2020 when he became the Local Manager of the Tucker, GA office.

An ISA Board Certified Master Arborist, Matt is also Tree Risk Assessment Qualified and holds a GA Pesticide Applicatorâ€™s License. He currently serves as a Board Member on the Georgia Tree Council. Matt enjoys helping his clients get the most out of their landscapes by utilizing Bartlettâ€™s industry-leading scientific research to build species-specific programs tailored fit to the clientâ€™s needs.

Matt and his wife, Milanne, have been married since 2010. They and their four children live in Gwinnett County. Matt enjoys supporting his kids in their various activities which typically leads to plenty of time at the soccer fields, karate dojo, and local theater. In his spare time, Matt enjoys playing basketball and traveling with his family.
