Meet Your Bartlett Arborist Representative

Ryan A. Bose

Ryan grew up climbing the sycamore in his backyard, and later, as a teenager, found a passion for rock climbing. After obtaining a degree in English Literature from Michigan State University in 2001, he decided teaching was not for him and took his climbing skills to Bartlett Tree Experts in 2002. Ryan applied his years of rock experience to arboriculture and, within a short time, was promoted to Arborist Crew Leader. He studied tree care deeply and became a certified Arborist, holding other positions in the company such as Plant Health Care Specialist and Assistant Manager. Ryan currently serves as an Arborist Representative for clients in Holland, Michigan.

An ISA Certified Arborist and Certified Tree Risk Assessor, Ryan enjoys working to maintain and improve the health and beauty of clients' landscapes. Backed by the resources of Bartlett's Research Laboratories, he helps property owners make educated decisions about tree and shrub care. Ryan has long been active in events that build the community and local green industry, like tree giveaways and sponsorships for the Michigan tree climbing championships. Ryan is a past president of the West Michigan Nursery and Landscape Association and was the first local arborist to bring the invasive pest Hemlock Woolly Adelgid to the attention of the State DNR.

In his free time, Ryan enjoys exploring the U.P. with his wife, Cori, and their two children, Jack and Oscar. He loves his big goofy dog, Ludo, and appreciates a good game of chess. While he still enjoys rock climbing, he has more recently focused on Judo, competing in regional Judo competitions, and training locally with Godai Judo club in Grand Rapids.
