Meet Your Bartlett Arborist Representative

Tom Adamson

Tom's career in the tree care industry began with Bartlett in 2014. With a strong interest in trees from an early age and a love of the outdoors, Tom was attracted by Bartlett's scientific, professional approach to arboriculture. After completing two summer work placements, Tom graduated from the University of Worcester with a BSc (Hons) in Arboriculture and Tree Management in 2016. Next, he started as a Production Arborist, then moved into a Plant Health Care role before becoming an Arborist Representative in 2020. Tom has gained a wealth of knowledge in all aspects of tree care and the services Bartlett offers. He takes great pride in providing practical, effective solutions to care for clients' trees and shrubs. Tom is involved in Scouting in his spare time as an assistant leader in his local Scout Group. He also enjoys woodworking and woodturning making use of some of the material removed as part of his tree work operations. He lives in High Wycombe working out of Bartlett's Beaconsfield office looking after south Buckinghamshire and west Berkshire.
