Meet Your Bartlett Arborist Representative

Mary Lee Citrino

Mary Lee grew up in Butler, Pennsylvania north of Pittsburgh on what was formerly a nursery. The plant Ilex Crenata 'Stokes' was hybridized there by Warren Stokes in 1949. Her family planted hundreds of specimen trees, perennial beds, shrub borders and annual beds to populate their property. Enjoying and caring for their property informed her passion for the landscape. Recently, she and her family have relocated to the East End of Long Island and are looking forward to curating their own plant collection in Amagansett.

Mary Lee graduated Lehigh University with a BS in Marketing. She is currently Chair of the Garden Committee at Old Westbury Gardens and a Provisional Horticulture Judge for the Garden Club of America.

She is an ISA Certified and a Tree Risk Assessment Qualified arborist and is a New York State licensed pesticide applicator.
