Meet Your Bartlett Arborist Representative

Megan Kacenski

Megan Kacenski grew up in southern Connecticut, close to Bartlett Headquarters. During her studies at the University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Megan interned with various Bartlett offices including the R.A. Bartlett Research Laboratories in North Carolina where she furthered her love of arboriculture.

After graduating with a Bachelor's Degree in Resource Economics and Arboriculture, Megan moved to Philadelphia to work as an arborist climber and plant care specialist. With her previous experience and drive, she quickly advanced to Arborist Representative and is now a certified ISA arborist and a Pennsylvania certified Pesticide Applicator.

Megan strives to provide an advanced level of scientific knowledge and strong client communication skills. When she is not at work, Megan can be found outdoors - on the ski slopes, up in a tree, or sailing.
