Meet Your Bartlett Arborist Representative

Nick Boykiw

Nick has a Communications diploma from the Southern Alberta Institute of Technology which he still puts to use helping people understand the science of their trees. In 2018, after some time in the radio broadcasting industry, Nick began his career in arboriculture. He spent two years working for small companies on northern Vancouver Island before moving to Calgary to be closer to family. In 2022, Nick joined Bartlett Tree Experts in Calgary and later transferred to the Burnaby office. Hired as an Arborist Climber, Nick advanced steadily within the Company, he was an Arborist Crew Leader and was responsible for performing Plant Health Care prior to becoming an Arborist Representative.

Nick is an ISA Certified Arborist and is Tree Risk Assessment Qualified (TRAQ). He loves working with clients, helping them get the most enjoyment and value out of their green living spaces.

He lives in North Vancouver, and you can usually find him exploring the forest with his dog, or spending time with his partner and son doing a wide range of outdoor activities.
