

Meet Your Bartlett Arborist Representative

Sean Boehrig

Sean started his career with Bartlett in 2017. He quickly moved into a leadership role as a Crew Leader. After one year, Sean was recognized within Bartlett Tree Experts as a Company Champion Climber, an honor he is very proud of. During this period, Sean cultivated a passion for arboriculture and tree care.

Prior to his career with Bartlett, Sean worked in Swaziland, a country in South Africa. There he worked with community development, teaching agricultural skills and entrepreneurship. He grew to love interacting with and educating residents on new skillsets.

As an Arborist Representative, Sean leverages skills learned in the field to provide clients quality, personable service and the highest level of professional care.

Sean is married to his college climbing partner and they have two wild and wonderful kids. In his free time, Sean is a rock climber, avid runner, and an all-around adventurer.
