Meet Your Bartlett Arborist Representative

Starker Wright

Starker graduated in 2001 from the University of Massachusetts with a degree in Agroecology, while serving for 8 years as the field coordinator of the UMass Tree Fruit IPM Program. From 2001-2013, Starker worked for the Insect Behavior and Ecology Program at the Appalachian Fruit Research Station with USDA-ARS, developing and testing biologically based management techniques for key native and invasive pests of tree fruit. As a field scientist, he has authored and co-authored over 80 research and extension publications, focusing on integration of biological, cultural and chemical management of trees and tree crops. He also served as a Military Intelligence Officer for the US Army and Army National Guard from 1991-2004.

Starker began his career with Bartlett in 2018 as a Plant Health Care Specialist and was then hired as an Arborist Representative in the Dublin, PA office. Starker is an avid, lifelong outdoors enthusiast. He and his wife Kathleen own and operate a horse farm in Milford, NJ with their four children.
