Meet Your Bartlett Arborist Representative

Trevor Moss

Trevor grew up in a small town called Tully in upstate New York. He developed a passion for the outdoors there, quickly realizing his interest in trees. Early on, working at a local maple sugar farm helped forge Trevor's path and he earned his associate's degree in forestry at Morrisville State College.

Trevor wanted to continue exploring the tree care industry. He returned to college to achieve a bachelor's in Natural Resources Conservation. His focus then was on tree management and preservation.

After graduation, Trevor moved to Rhode Island and he has been in the tree care and preservation industry ever since. In 2019, he started with Bartlett Tree Experts as a spray technician and production climber. Within his first few weeks with Bartlett, Trevor accepted a position as an Arborist Representative. He is proud to serve clients in Providence and surrounding Massachusetts and Rhode Island areas.
