

Meet Your Bartlett Arborist Representative

Bob White

Bob grew up exploring the San Gabriel Mountains near his home. He developed a deep love of the natural world and eventually chose a career path that would ensure a close connection with his early interest. Bob studied tree management at the Warnell School Forestry at the University of Georgia (Go Dawgs). After graduation, Bob chose to stay at the University and work with some of the best Arboricultural researchers in the world to obtain his Masters Degree. It was while he was in graduate school that Bob was introduced to Bartlett Tree through our Research Lab in North Carolina. Bob became part of the Bartlett team after he completed his degree and worked with the Cincinnati Office for several years before coming home to California. He now serves the tree health needs of Montecito, Carpinteria, and Ventura. He became an ISA Certified Arborist while in graduate school, and has since been named a Board Certified Master Arborist. Bob is a proud member of the ISA and can often be found at their events working to expand his own knowledge and teaching others. Bob currently spends his time raising a family, caring for the trees of his clients, and volunteering in the community.
