Meet Your Bartlett Arborist Representative

David Miller

He has been in the tree care industry for over 26 years and attended Unity College in Maine, majoring in forestry. David is trained in all aspects of tree and shrub care. He started as a grounds man performing root crown excavations and assisting climbers. Working his way up quickly, he began to manage his own pruning and tree removal crews on large-scale jobs in the Desert Southwest for a large commercial tree service. David started working as a plant health care technician when he moved back to the area in 1995. Before joining Bartlett in 2016, he worked with two local tree companies helping to implement their plant health care programs that emphasized a scientific approach and the importance of good customer relations. David lives in Ardmore, PA with his wife, daughter, their two black labs and a turtle. He spends most of his spare time traveling to his daughter's soccer practices, matches and tournaments as well as walking the dogs.
