

Meet Your Bartlett Arborist Representative

Lyle Feilmeier

Lyle has over 30 years of experience in all facets of arboriculture. He is an expert in tree and shrub pruning and climbing, and in diagnosing tree insect and disease problems. Lyle has been with Bartlett Tree Experts since 1995. He is a Division Commercial Arborist Representative serving all of Oregon.

An ISA Board Certified Master Arborist, Lyle also holds an ISA Tree Risk Assessment Qualification. He provides Tree Risk Assessments, Tree Health Assessments, Tree Inventories, and Preservation Plans for residential, commercial, local city, and government departments' tree consulting needs. Lyle thrives on building commercial partnerships with clients with a priority on their objectives.

Lyle's strong devotion to the arboricultural industry is evident from his long involvement in promoting professionalism, safety, ethics, continued education certifications, and training. He is involved with many local training programs within the Portland/Vancouver metro and beyond. He trains, teaches, and lectures volunteers, students, and the public on disease and insect identification, proper pruning techniques and tree selection. Lyle is also an avid bonsai enthusiast and enjoys spending time in nature in any way possible.
